NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

Information Wanted About Mrs. Harper.

HER MOVEMENTS SINCE SHE LEFT

A Historical Collection Urged—A Residence Burned—Other News of an Interesting Nature.

Humane Officer M. V. Wright received a letter from Oklahoma City, I. T., on Saturday last, inquiring about the antecedents of Mrs. W. H. Harper, a former resident of this city. The closing paragraph of the letter read as follows: "It may be necessary to have evidence against her in order to prevent other and perhaps worse outrages from the same source. Any information, evidence or document of legal avail that you may be able to send us may prove to be in the interests of humanity and will be esteemed a favor." From the above extract it is inferred that Mrs. Harper's record in this city is already known at her present residence. For the benefit of those who have forgotten the circumstance the following facts are given:

In 1888 Mr. Harper, a well-to-do commission merchant, resided on Hoover street, in the West End, with his second wife and his 12-year-old child, Florence. During her husband's absence Mrs. Harper ill-treated little Florence, screening herself by threatening to kill the child if she ever told her father. Finally the little girl ran away and was found in the Wolfskill orchard by some kindly disposed persons, who took her into their home. It was then discovered that the poor little creature was frightfully bruised, two of her ribs being broken and her left shoulder blade broken. On closely questioning the child, she disclosed her step-mother's inhumanity, and the matter was put into the hands of the Humane society. A warrant was issued for the woman's arrest, but, aided by her husband, who at first refused to believe that she had committed the offense, she escaped and went to Kansas. About a month later Harper procured a divorce, but in less than six months afterwards followed the woman and remarried her. The girl, Florence, was then taken to Oakland and adopted by a well-to-do merchant at that place. A few months ago Harper committed suicide at Oklahoma, and since that time no word has been received in this city of his wife's doings; but from the letter received by Officer Wright it would be but reasonable to believe that she is pursuing a similar course of cruelty with some other unfortunate child.

SOME HISTORICAL RELICS.

Their Permanent Preservation Under Discussion.

The great interest taken by visitors to the recent Chrysanthemum Fair in the collection of relics of this section in the Mexican booth has started anew the discussion among old settlers as to what will be the best final disposition to make of articles of this sort. The number of the articles was not large, but many of them were very interesting by reason of their intimate connection with various important epochs in the history of the State. A sample article, for instance, was the cannon which was carried to Upper California by the first expedition that came into the territory, in charge of Governor Junipero Serra 120 years ago. This cannon was used in solemnizing the founding of the missions of San Diego and San Gabriel and the Pueblo de Los Angeles.

It is a well known fact that among the Spanish-American families and those of the early settlers of the State there are a large number of these relics. If they were all collected together they would form the nucleus at least of a valuable and interesting historical museum. It is much to be regretted that many of the most interesting of them have either been lost or have been given away to people who have carried them out of the section where they gained their historical value.

The question is frequently given discussion among a clique of the older generation of the Spanish-American residents of this city as to whether some plan might not be adopted whereby all these relics should be collected together and preserved in a suitable manner. It happens that in many of these families the younger generation exhibits no interest in the articles of this sort, which have been handed down through a number of years, and it is believed that unless something is done many of them will be lost. An undertaking of the sort that is suggested, that of collecting these articles in some sort of a safe place where they can be properly cared for and exhibited to the public, would seem to be within the province of the Historical Society, but as yet this organization has never had the means to go into such a work. The Directors of the Public Library have been considering the matter, and it has been proposed that a room be set apart in the City Hall (which, being practically a fireproof building, would be a safe receptacle) for the storing and exhibition of these articles. It is scarcely to be hoped, at the present time, that enough money could be raised for the construction of a building, and Los Angeles has no structure of special historical interest like Independence Hall in Philadelphia or the old South Church in Boston which could be used for such a purpose.

The interest which is taken by people in the northern part of the State in historical relics is aptly illustrated by the effort which is now being made to preserve Sutter's Fort, in Sacramento, which was just on the point of being torn down by the owner of the land on which it is situated. A recent San Francisco paper records the fact that Mrs. Leland Stanford has subscribed $500 to the fund that has been started to purchase the building. General Sutter was the owner of the mill where the first discovery of gold took place in the State, and the fort was built as a protection against the Indians in 1844.

It is believed that if a proper effort were made among the people of Los Angeles, a similar spirit might be developed. It is stated that the old families, many of them, stand ready to donate the relics which they have been zealously preserving whenever suitable arrangements can be made for their reception. All they ask is that they may be assured that the people in whose charge the articles are given should be thoroughly responsible, and that the arrangements shall be of a permanent character.

It is not improbable that action will be taken in the matter before long, either by the Board of Directors of the Public Library, or by the Historical Society.

Residence Burned.

About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the eight-room residence of Dr. I. E. Cohn on Figueroa near Jefferson street, was totally destroyed by fire during the temporary absence of the family. The doctor, accompanied by his wife and children, drove to Pasadena in the morning, leaving the house in custody of a female cook, and was totally unprepared for the shock that awaited him on his return last evening, when he found a pile of charred ruins on the spot where his home had stood a few hours earlier. The fire was caused, it is believed, by the carelessness of the servant when lighting the stove with coal oil. The house and its contents, valued at $7,500, which included the entire wardrobe of the family, beyond the clothes in which they left home, were lost. The place was partially insured with Messrs. McNelly & Camfield in either the National or Orient companies of Hartford.

Land in Demand.

Owners of land to rent report that there is quite a brisk demand on the part of those who desire to farm on a small scale. The prices obtained are from $2 to $5 for lands without water and suitable only for grain or products that do not require irrigation, while for lands with water from $15 to $20 per acre is obtained. A good deal of land has already been leased at these figures, and the indications are that there will be more produce for sale this year than there was last year. Lands are going into cultivation this year which have never been ploughed before, and the acreage under cultivation, it is expected, will be about a third larger than it was in 1888.

FASHION NOTES.

What the Ladies Are Interested About.

The fashionable millinery jewelry is simple.

Women wear in their hair dragon-flies, tortoise-shell fans, stars, daisies, roses, all modeled in tortoise-shell or tortoise-shell mounted with diamonds.

Ducks, insects, a flight of swallows, all in diamonds and rubies, are worn in the bonnet-strings and about the bonnets of a few rich women.

Gloves of tan and gray shades will remain in favor throughout the winter. Four-buttoned gloves of either dressed or undressed kid are worn with walking costumes.

Gold bangles are coming down to a mere wire, sometimes of thin films of twisted gold. They are fastened with a double heart, a moonstone face—that of a pretty woman or cherub.

Pale-yellow cashmere gowns with the broad gathered back and skirt have the long continuous front breadths caught up on the left side in Greek fashion, and flounces of white lace set there from belt to foot.

Notable effects in bonnet trimming are triplets of canary-birds and the little white Java nun, and clusters of South American humming-birds and the birds of paradise are made to do much more than ordinary duty on the millinery of the season.

Corselets of passementerie have been brought out in gold, silk and gold, or all silk. They are of various shapes, high at the front and low at the back, or high at the back and tapering to the middle of the front. Sleeve caps and cuffs are made to match.

Many of the new gowns are all in one piece, whether cut in princesse breadths, or with the skirt sewed to the waist, or in the new quaint fashion with the waist sh

STREET STORIES.

Told by Various People of the City.

SOME GOOD PUNS AND RETORTS.

The Mayor Got Snubbed—Little Wallie's Bright Idea—The Boy and the Yeast Powder.

There is no one in town who has more witty retorts laid to his account by the gossips of the street than E. F. Spence, the President of the First National Bank. If his biography ever gets written, the Boswell who undertakes the job will have to devote a special volume to the bon mots which are attributed to him. In the making of puns he has a special facility, and contrary to the precedent in such cases made and provided, his puns are always good. Here is a sample. When the celebration of the opening of the East Side cable took place a few weeks ago Mr. Spence occupied a seat in the first car that went over the viaduct. As the train passed between the long ranks of marching school children a photographer was noticed preparing his camera to take a picture of the scene. Joe Mesmer, who was one of the principal managers of the celebration, was running about keeping the children out of the way of the cars and issuing orders to the leaders.

"That man is going to take a photograph of the group," said someone. "How do you suppose he will get the children to stand still long enough?"

"Perfectly easy," said Mr. Spence, promptly. "He will have Joe Mesmerize them."

ONE ON THE MAYOR.

Mayor Hazard, like most other public officers, labors occasionally under the disadvantage of having his best intentions misunderstood, but the worst experience of this sort with which he ever met took place a short time ago. It was late in the evening, and he and his much-admired lady were sitting in a front room of their home on Fort street. Mrs. Hazard happened to look out through the screen door and saw a well-dressed lady leaning against the front fence. She was alone, and seemed to be in trouble. Mrs. Hazard called the Mayor's attention to the fact.

"I think something is the matter, Harry," said she; "you had better ask the lady if you can be of any assistance to her."

Thereupon Mr. Hazard promptly went out into the street and addressed himself to the lady. She evidently did not notice him until he came up, and started back when she heard him speak.

"Madame," said he, in his best Sunday tone of voice, "I noticed you standing here, and I thought perhaps I might be of assistance to you."

"Sir!" she exclaimed fiercely. "How dare you venture to address me!"

"You seemed to be in trouble," stammered his honor, "and I thought——"

"I was out looking for my dog," snapped the lady, "and it is none of your business, sir!"

With that she turned and walked away. Mr. Hazard says that in his various political campaigns he has been called a variety of things, but that this is the first time he was ever taken for a masher.

A BRIGHT BOY.

Little Wallie Eddinger, who recently played Lord Fauntleroy with such success in this city is probably one of the keenest children of his age in the country, but on the night when the company played in the Opera House to the Senatorial party he had a bright idea that unfortunately came too late. Just after he had acted the scene in which he says: "First I thought I would be President of the United States, but now I've got to be an Earl," he ran up to Mr. Morris, the trainer of the company, and said: "O, why didn't I think in time! Just after I spoke it I thought that I ought to have said that I was going to be a Senator of the United States. I know all those Senators would have liked it. But I don't suppose I will ever have the chance again."

MOVING A GRAVEYARD.

The Mayor's Clerk, W. W. Robinson, acts as Secretary of the various boards that meet for the transaction of the city's business, and not infrequently livens things up by his characteristic remarks. Some time ago at a meeting of the Board of Health the question of the moving of a certain graveyard was under discussion. Some member of the board remarked that an effort had been made once before to move the yard, but that the undertaking had met with vigorous opposition from a certain citizen whose wife was buried there.

"Yes, but that was a long time ago," said some one.

"His opposition will be twice as fierce now," remarked Robinson, "for he has two wives buried there."

THE BOY WHO HAD RELATIVES.

One evening when the Agricultural Fair was in full blast at the Pavilion, M. R. Higgins happened to be standing near a booth in which a local yeast powder was exhibited. A pile of small packages to be given away to visitors lay on the show case. A small boy came up, and after eyeing the pile for a minute, asked the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce if he could have one. Mr. Higgins assured him that he might, and the youngster stowed it away in his capacious pocket. A moment later he returned and said: "Was that one for me or for my mother?"

"For yourself if you want it," answered Mr. Higgins.

"Then can I have one for my mother?"

He was informed that he might, and another package disappeared in his pocket. He went away to a short distance and thought it over. Then he returned and asked whether his father was included in the deal. He got one for his father. His next trip was devoted to the interest of his sister, whose name Mr. Higgins required him to give, and the one after that covered his brother.

It was evident that he had got to the end of the list of his relatives, and Mr. Higgins thinking the incident had come to an end was about to leave the booth before he had to answer any more questions about the baking powder. Just then the small boy returned and in a hesitating and awkward fashion asked for a package for his "other brother," whose name he gave.

It was a perfectly clear case of a manufactured relative. The boy blushed and hung his head like an inexperienced liar, but Mr. Higgins pretended to believe him, and handed over the package. The boy went away and hid behind a banana tree while he thought up a good name for another sister. Then he began on grandparents, and followed these up with aunts and uncles. The pile grew smaller and smaller. Finally the little fellow succeeded in thinking up enough cousins to completely wipe it out, and he went away, his pockets bulging out in all directions with the fruits of his fraud.

TEELE'S COMPANION

Reported to be the Wife of a Seattle Merchant.

Since the departure of A. L. Teele, the real-estate agent, who disappeared from this city in September last, taking with him about $5,000 belonging to his patrons, there have been innumerable conjectures as to the identity of the female who accompanied him. It was stated yesterday that Teele's fair companion was Mrs. Schram, the wife of a prosperous merchant now residing at Seattle, but formerly engaged in the crockery business at The Fair, opposite the Hellenbeck hotel on South Spring street. The matter was brought to light inadvertently by Mr. Frank Schram himself, who is now in this city gathering evidence in support of a suit for divorce, which he intends to bring in the near future. While on his quest he visited the rooms formerly occupied by his wife and Teele, and his inquiries naturally set the tongues of the gossips wagging. It appears that Schram and his wife left this city for Seattle about six months ago, and that the lady left her husband, presumably on a visit to her friends, early in August. It is stated that she joined Teele in San Francisco and came down here with him, and that she was the mysterious occupant of the room at No. 833 Temple street. When in business in this city Mr. Schram lived on Bryant street, near Hoover street, in the West End, and was universally respected by his neighbors. He is very reticent about the affair and refused to be approached on the subject; but a HERALD reporter was informed by an intimate friend of the merchant that Schram is convinced of his wife's infidelity, and will at once commence proceedings for a divorce.

A Brilliant Play at Billiards.

Professor McCleery, the famous billiard player, who was in Los Angeles recently, played a match in San Francisco Friday night, in which he made the highest run ever made by him. His adversary was Ben Saylor, who defeated him in a match two weeks ago. In the sixth run McCleery, by a well-calculated shot around the table, brought the balls together on the lower rail, and by careful nursing had amassed 124 points before an unfortunate freeze broke his position. Saylor played steadily along during the next eight or ten innings, and by timely runs of seventy-five and forty-nine, coupled with numerous smaller ones, managed to place himself in the lead, which he maintained until the seventeenth inning, when McCleery gathered himself together, and by a magnificent exhibition of rail nursing exceeded in piling up 612 points, the largest run ever made by the Professor in a game. Nearly three times the balls were carried around the tables and several times kept together when a break seemed imminent by deft cue work. One of the prettiest shots in the match was made in the early stage of the game. McCleery's ball being between the other two on the side rail, a delicate masse to the lower cushion brought the three balls again into position amid a hearty round of applause, which constantly increased as the points kept piling up.

After this run Saylor lost his grip completely, and though the balls broke well for him, he seemed utterly unable to keep them on the rail. McCleery continued to make an excellent average during the remaining innings, and in the thirty-second ran out his 1,000 points, Saylor then having 404 to his credit.

UNDECIDED BUT DECISIVE.

An Interesting Ball Game Between "Times" and "Herald" Printers.

Although the game of ball played yesterday afternoon at the corner of Third and Alameda streets by the HERALD and Times nines was declared a draw by the umpire in the last half of the ninth inning, the former club at that time had all the advantage, and in a few moments more would have broken the tie then existing and scored the winning run. The men had been practicing for a week, and the game was an exceedingly well played and interesting one. Meyer and Early held down the points for the HERALD, and Moody and Tony for the Times. The Times went first to bat, but didn't accomplish anything. The HERALD followed, knocking out two runs. At the end of the fourth inning the HERALD was four in the lead, but Meyer's arm weakened and the Times prints began to get something in their sticks. The HERALDS struck a fat take in the fifth and sixth, scoring three runs in each, and the Times were practically given a bonus of six unearned runs in the eighth, the employees of the only Democratic daily newspaper in Southern California falling down all around. In the first half of the ninth, the Fort-street type-slingers scored twice, and the HERALDS followed suit in their half, but just at the critical point, with two men on bases and bets of 10 to 1 on the HERALDS being refused all over the grounds, a maverick Tribune "sub" meandered on to the field and stopped the game by declaring that a man was batting out of his turn. After the little difficulty was settled the umpire called the game a tie with a score of 12 to 12. The game by innings and the names of the players follow:

WANTED HIS WIFE.

W. A. McConnell Charged With Disturbing the Peace.

At an early hour yesterday morning Officer Rich arrested a respectably dressed man, who appeared to be slightly intoxicated, for disturbing the peace of the inhabitants of the Smith house, on S. Spring street, by kicking at the door of the place. He gave his name as W. A. McConnell, and the proprietor of the place, Louis Smith, was booked to insure his reappearance to prosecute. Before being taken back to the City Jail, McConnell and Smith wrangled together for some minutes about the former's visit to the lodging house. McConnell insisted upon learning from Smith whether his wife occupied a room in his house, and on learning that she did, wanted to know why he had been refused admission to her. Smith claimed that the woman was working for him, and was indebted to him for her room and board, and informed McConnell that his wife was her own mistress and did not want to see him. This statement aroused McConnell's ire, and he was led away to his cell in a state of considerable excitement.

A similar scene occurred on Wednesday night of last week, when McConnell called at the house, and he says he learned that his wife was cohabiting with a stranger whose name he could not ascertain. The injured husband called at the police station and demanded that an officer be dispatched to arrest the interloper, but the authorities refused to interfere in the matter. The affair will in all probability be fully aired in the Police Court today, and some sensational testimony may be expected.

Los Angeles Cotton.

Tom Goss has been up in San Francisco for a week past. He came home yesterday, having stopped over a day at his ranch up in the mouth of the Soledad cañon, below Lang's station. Mrs. Goss had been spending a week on the ranch, and he stopped to bring her home. He brought with him a fine specimen of cotton grown on the ranch. The plant was very well developed, and it had a score of pods on it, some of them burst wide open, and white as snow with cotton of fairly long, fine fibre.

The Grand Jury.

Today is appointed for the reassembling of the Grand Jury. It is quite possible that this will be the last week of work to be done by this august body, and that by the end thereof a final report may be expected. The Grand Jury has a few knotty problems before it, which must either be solved or cut after the fashion of Alexander of Macedon, with the famous knot. Whichever method of dealing with these questions is adopted there will be a sensation. The ears of the people are all wide open, and the question is will they indict or not indict.

Wheeling's Fate.

Today is set for passing sentence on Wayne O. Wheeling, convicted of manslaughter for the killing of William Tweedy, of Antelope valley. It is pretty safe to risk the conjecture that the period of punishment will not be fixed by the Court today. A motion will be made for a stay of proceedings, probably until next Thursday, and the motion is pretty sure to be granted. What movement will follow this is not yet clearly outlined.

Anguish Unspeakable

Is endured by the victims of inflammatory rheumatism, and any form of the disease may reach that agonizing phase or attack the heart and cause death. Unhappily they who feel its preliminary twinges seldom realize this. Like other possibly dangerous maladies, rheumatism is often disregarded at the outset. Well will it be for him if this brief notice shall serve as a warning of future peril or pain to a reader troubled with incipient rheumatism. The proper sequel will be an instantaneous resort to the great preventive depurent, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, whose brevet of professional commendation popular experience has confirmed. There is no finer or more genial antidote to the virus of rheumatism in the system. Botanic in its origin, it is free from the objections attaching to depurent poisons liable to be taken in more than the infinitesimal dose. The Bitters conquers malaria, indigestion, liver and kidney troubles.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Four Years on Crutches.

For fifteen years I was afflicted with rheumatism, four years of which I was compelled to go on crutches. Words are inadequate to express the suffering I endured during that time. During these fifteen years of existence (it was not living), I tried every known remedy without receiving any benefit. I finally began on Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which from the first gave me relief, and today I am enjoying the best of health, and am a well man. I candidly believe that S. S. S. is the best blood purifier on the market today.

AMUSEMENTS.

Notes in Relation to the Plays and Players.

Treasurer Frank Conant, of the Grand Opera House, will go to Arizona for the winter during the week. His object is to gain health.

Next week the Duff Opera Company will be at the Grand Opera House. The repertoire is said to be very good.

Katie Putnam and her company, including her husband (H. P. Emory,) Mr. and Mrs. George C. Boniface, Jr., Nellie Strickland and others, have just reached San Francisco after a long and prosperous tour in Australia.

Miss Marie Wainwright has repeated her success of other cities in Boston in her new and handsome production of Twelfth Night.

The Bostonians have just ended a most successful season in Philadelphia, where the operas of the company's repertory have been heartily appreciated by the best classes of opera patrons. They will be here this season.

There seems to be a possibility of a lawsuit between Manager Al Hayman and Charles E. Locke, of the Emma Juch Opera Company. Several months ago Mr. Hayman entered into a contract with Mr. Locke for a tour of the opera company along the Pacific Slope. Mr. Locke, however, has come to the conclusion that his company could not play in California at regular prices and demanded that Mr. Hayman raise the price of seats to $3. This Mr. Hayman refused to do, and hence the dispute.

"Mr. Barnes of New York."

This interesting play will receive its initial presentation in Los Angeles at the Los Angeles Theater tonight, and will remain the attraction at that house the entire week. The attraction in company and scenery will be the same as used in the San Francisco production, and is under the management of Mr. Frank W. Sanger, manager of the Broadway Theater, New York.

The Gilmore Concerts.

Tonight the great musical event of the season opens at the Academy of Music. This is the appearance of Gilmore's great band, supporting half a dozen of the best voices in America. There will be but three of these concerts, one of them being a matinee tomorrow.

Rosina Vokes.

Tomorrow evening an artist who has for several years past been one of the strongest drawers in the East that any theater could present, will appear at the Grand Opera House. Miss Vokes finished Saturday evening in San Francisco a remarkably successful engagement of four weeks, and this week will appear in a varied round of her favorite characters. The company supporting her is spoken of as exceptionally good.

CHURCH SERVICES.

Topics Discussed by the Ministers Yesterday.

There was a large attendance at all of the churches yesterday, and the many strangers present indicated that the city is filling up with visitors. There were no especial services, but the topics discussed were all interesting. Thanksgiving, which will occur next week, is causing some stir in the way of preparations for the celebration, and the Christmas holidays in the near future begin to waken an expectant interest in the minds of the young folks.

At Trinity M. E. Church South, Rev. H. M. Du Bose took for his subjects "The Divine Healer" and "Our Nation."

Rev. R. G. Hutchins took for his topic in the morning, at the First Congregational church, "The Absent Thomas." His evening address was upon Thomas Chalmers.

At the Tabernacle Baptist church, Rev. W. H. Pendleton preached on "The Bell Call of the Morning Watch" and "The Bliss of Hoping."

Rev. W. A. Knighten, of the Grace M. E. church, chose for his subject in the morning, "Gospel Power." In the evening Rev. W. S. Bryant spoke upon "The Wise Choice."

Rev. D. V. Bowen, at the New church, preached at the morning service upon "Believing in Prayer."

At St. Vincent's church, Rev. L P. Landry preached at the morning service, when the choir rendered the following programme: "Aspe ges Me," solo and chorus (Novello); "Veni Creator, "quartette, (Mendelsohn); "Ave Maria," trio, for soprano, contralto and tenor, (Owen); "Kyrie," "Gloria" and "Credo," from Haydn's Third Mass; "Sanctus," "Benedictus" and "Agnus Dei" from Gounod's Messe de Sacre Coeur.

At the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of L. D. S., "Bible Religion" was the subject of a discourse delivered by E. L. Kelly, of Kirtland, Ohio.

"Seeing is Not Necessarily Perceiving, Hearing Not Necessarily Understanding" was the subject of Dr. Fay at the Church of the Unity yesterday.

THE ORPHANS' FAIR.

Preparations for the Opening To-morrow Evening.

The Orphans' Fair, which will commence to-morrow evening, promises to be a great success, and Armory Hall will probably be filled every evening. The funds derived from the fair will go toward the building of the asylum in course of construction at Boyle Heights. This building will have a frontage of 245 feet, with a depth of 195 feet. It will be three stories and basement, with additional room under the roof. The tower will be carried up to a height of 145 feet, and will be in the center of the building. The lower floor will contain the study hall and class-rooms; the second and third stories will be devoted to the dormitories, and these will be connected with the ground floor by six flights of stairs. It is to complete this building that the fair is given, and it is expected that a handsome sum will be realized. The committees in charge of the fair are as follows:

Finance—Joseph Mesmer, V. Ponet, R. Steere.

Printing—Dr. M. Kannon, James J. Gee, A. Schwamm.

Literary and Music—Joseph Mesmer, Prof. A. G. Gardner, J. K. Chalmers, J. J. Schallert, J. H. Dockweiler, Dr. M. M. Kannon and A. J. Mesmer.

Door—J. H. Claney, F. W. Sabichi, P. M. Morony.

Management (raffle and auction)—F. J. Cantani, B. J. Reeve, John P. Moran, W. A. Driscoll, A. McNally, N. Lindenfeld.

Reception—Joseph Wolfskill, J. C. McMenomy, J. Murrietta, Andrew Mullen, N. A. McDonald, W. J. Brodrick, Joseph Hyans, C. Ganahl, M. G. Aguirre, Richard Dillon, Thomas F. Gray, John Moriarty, W. H. Workman, D. Desmond.

Chairman of General Committee—Hon. Stephen M. White. Secretary—A. Schwamm.

Preparing to Make Beet Sugar.

The Chino Champion says:

The first factory plant for Chino will cost nearer $600,000 than $100,000, and it is in the plan to expend about $1,000,000 in sugar machinery here. Ground is being prepared for beets now; that is, sod land is being plowed for cultivation in corn or other suitable crops next summer, so as to rot the roots and put it in the best possible shape for sugar beets in 1891. The factory could have been secured for next year, and would have been had there been more land here of one or more years' cultivation. Notwithstanding the beets grown on land plowed for the first time last spring were of high quality, it was deemed best not to take any chances of success from the very start of the factory. To obtain the best growth of sugar beets the soil should be not only plowed deep, but well pulverized, and much of the Chino damp land has a stiff sod, some of which contains a network of vegetable roots. One year of good cultivation will put it in shape to insure a big yield of beets high in sugar and purity. No mistakes are to be made in the Chino beet sugar business.

Illinois Entertainment.

A crowded audience on Saturday evening enjoyed the Illinois Association entertainment and social. Only one more entertainment will be given by the association in its present quarters, soon after which it will take possession of its new and commodious hall and reading room, on Fort and Sixth streets. The literary and musical programme consisted of recitals by Prof. Parker, Misses Hattie Pearson and Florence Archer; guitar, banjo, violin, cornet and piano music by Prof. De Lano and wife, Misses Mamie and Alma Loomis, Prof. J. L. Wilson, wife and daughter, Mrs. Luther and Miss Carrie Wagner; vocal numbers by Mr. Holmes and Miss Ruth Hall. Every number was applauded, and several of the artists were called out the second time.

The Y. M. C. A.

The meeting for men at the Y. M. C. A. rooms yesterday afternoon was very largely attended. Mr. Baldwin spoke of the work of the International Committee, and a number of names of those who subscribed for this general work of the Association in sums from $1 to $5 were taken.

The address of Rev. Selah W. Brown was listened to with close attention. Mr. Brown's talk was on the "Christian Soldier," and when the meeting was open for testimony many spoke of their experiences.

Iron as an Indicator of Business Activity.

It is as true in this age as in that of Solomon, that of making many books there is no end. Of late it has become the fashion to issue books treating not only of political economy, as it was in the days of Adam Smith and De Tocqueville, but to devote quite ambitious works to minute details of our daily life. Some of these treatises are of an especial value, and amongst them all none deserve to rank higher than "The Science of Business," by Mr. Roderick H. Smith.

Mr. Smith has undertaken to reduce business to laws as exact as those which govern the mathematics, and it must be confessed that in his effort he has achieved marked success, and has accumulated a vast mass of statistics of great value to the student of political economy. It may be interesting to know that Mr. Smith, who issued his book in 1885, predicted the period of depression through which we have just passed or through which we are passing—it is devoutly to be hoped that the former postulate is the true one. As he was a prophet in the first instance, his prediction that 1890 will be a year of phenomenal business activity is worthy of attention.

The other day the world was startled by the announcement of a great activity in the iron market in London. The HERALD immediately declared that this was a precursor of better times, basing the prediction on the theory that an active iron market is an infallible business barometer. We had not at that time read Mr. Smith's admirable book and we have found in it data of a specially interesting kind. The price of pig-iron is an almost infallible indication of the condition of trade. In 1852 and following years there was a boom in it that ran the price up from $22.62½ to $36 87. That was the extreme limit, and in 1856, the year preceding the great panic of 1857, it had run down to $27.12½, striking $26.37½ in that famous year of depression, and never halting until it sank to $20.25 in 1861. About 1863 there was a sharp recovery in the price of iron, which jumped from $23.87 in 1862 to $35.25 in the former year. In 1864, when it began to be very plain that the Union cause was a sure winner, pig iron made a jump to $59.25, the highest price it has ever sold for in the history of the United States. Everyone remembers the great prosperity that followed upon the close of the war, and this was ushered in by this tremendous spring in pig-iron from $22 25 in 1858 to $59.25 in 1864. High prices prevailed for this metal until 1872. The memorable panic of 1873 was ushered in by a drop in the price of pig-iron from $48.87½ in 1872 to $42.75 in 1873. The price went on steadily falling till, in 1878, it reached the unprecedentedly low price of $17.62½. Just here began a reaction, and by 1880 the price had reacted to $28 50. Then began a decline which has been operating ever since, until the reported activity in the London market was announced the other day.

The consumption of pig-iron has increased enormously in the United States, running up from 919,770 tons in 1860—the first year in which the totals are given in Mr. Smith's tables—to 5,178,122 in 1882, and 5,146,972 in 1883. In 1880 the demand was so great that we were obliged to import 784,968 tons of pig iron from abroad. The activity in railway building almost exactly kept pace with the movement in pig iron.

No prophet has ever been so thoroughly confirmed in his previsions as Mr. Smith has been as far as we have gone, and we shall look confidently for his year of unprecedented prosperity—1890. When we shall strike it, we ought to remember Pharoah's experience of the fat and the lean kine, and save enough of our abundance to tide us over the poverty-stricken cycle that is sure to follow.

Mr. Smith's book is written with captivating elequence, although he claims to be strictly matter of fact. He resembles Henry George in the interest which he imparts to an ordinarily dry subject.

THERE has been more or less anxiety in business circles all over the country on account of the low status of the bank reserves in New York City. This has been thought the more significant from the fact that the exports of specie from this country for the year past exceeded the imports by more than $60,000,000. But in spite of these facts, there does not seem to be any very great cause for alarm. People coming here from western cities report money as being rather easy than otherwise in such centers. The fact is, the wealth of the country is much better distributed now than it was a few years ago. Chicago, St. Paul and other western cities are monetary centers of great significance, and rates of interest there are not so much higher than in New York or Boston as they used to be. Capitalists have more faith in western properties than they have heretofore entertained, and in many cases prefer the rich lands of the West to the poor and exhausted farms of the East as securities for loans. Besides it is a known fact that the crops in the West this year are enormous, and provision has been made for their moving. This has caused much money to seek the West. A dispatch in the HERALD today indicates a great improvement in the general business of the country over the status of a year ago. All figures point to better times as near at hand. The sale of the season's crops will put a great deal of money in circulation, which will everywhere vitalize all branches of trade.

WE HAVE seen it estimated that as high as 200,000 Americans visited Europe this year, the usual number having been greatly increased on account of the World's Fair in Paris. This vast number of pleasure-seekers must necessarily, in the main, belong to the wealthy classes, for it goes without saying that but very few wage workers can save enough money to make the trip. The average American who visits Europe, and stops at the hotels, will find, when he comes to balance his cash account on his return home, that it has cost him in the vicinity of $20 a day to make the grand tour. If we put the sum at half that amount and say that the visit has averaged all round three months, or ninety days, then we have as a result the astounding expenditure abroad of the American contingent this year of $180,000,000. Is it any wonder that there has been a stringency in the money market this fall? Every dollar of that vast amount was withdrawn in gold from the circulation of the country to meet the expenses of our foreign tourists this season, and not one dollar in ten is returned by European tourists visiting this country. Verily, we are a spendthrift people.

THE scramble for the Blythe estate is still occupying the attention of the Probate Court in San Francisco. When a bachelor, who during his lifetime was believed to be alone in the world, dies, and leaves an estate of several millions, there is no danger that his property will escheat to the State for the want of heirs. So it is in the Blythe case. The woods are full of them. Alleged heirs have put in an appearance from all parts of the United States, and a raft of them have made themselves known in the old country. It now appears that Thomas H. Blythe started for California from Liverpool in 1849. He was well known there as Tom Williams, and had any number of cousins, nieces, nephews, uncles and aunts. These are all after his millions, whilst little Flora Blythe, the pretty flower resulting from an amour of the deceased millionaire in one of his visits to London, seems to have made out a very strong case, not only as his natural daughter, but as the person he intended to leave his millions to.

THERE has been an activity in prospecting in Southern California during the past year that has never been paralleled in this section, and we are glad to be able to say that it has been attended with very gratifying results. All over the State of California there has been great inquiry for developed mines and good prospects, and the extreme richness of this portion of the State, not only in gold and silver, but in the baser metals, is beginning to attract attention. Some of our local prospectors have happened on a number of finds of great promise, whose ores assay very satisfactorily, and which give evidence of great extent and permanence. The signs are multiplying that the fashion of going immense distances to prospect, where supplies are difficult to be had and very dear, is about to give place to a thorough exploitation of the richer measures that lie right under our nose. The old adage that "far fields are green" has had its day.

THE deposition of Dom Pedro recalls an incident in the career of that monarch which makes it seem impossible that he could ever have been hurled from the throne which he did so much to honor. Shortly before the emancipation of the negroes in Brazil, Dom Pedro was waited upon by two committees, the one conservative and the other liberal, the former to protest against any interference with the serfs and the latter to demand some amelioration in their condition. The liberals requested that the Emperor would notify them of the progress of the agitation. "Well, gentlemen," said Dom Pedro, "I can satisfy you right here and now. I am evidently more of a liberal than you are, and I propose that the slaves shall be absolutely emancipated." That settled the question. Ordinarily, a monarch like that would be allowed to serve his term out, so to speak.

FARMERS and landowners in the Cahuenga and Ballona districts have offered to plant a total acreage of 4,820 to sugar beets if assurance is given them that a factory will be established at some convenient point in the section. If the Spreckelses are serious in their offer to erect a refinery plant where they can be assured of a sufficient supply of beets to keep it going, surely this proposition ought to strike them favorably. Perhaps the speediest way for these farmers to secure a factory would be for them to plant out a few acres of sugar beets each, so as to prove the adaptability of the soil to this valuable root. That fact placed beyond controversy, either the Spreckels or the American company would doubtless see it to their interest to locate a factory in the district at once.

ONE inch of rain within the next week would insure very luxuriant grass and grain by Christmas. We have encountered the statement that rain is already needed to carry the grass along. This is certainly not the case near Los Angeles. The pastures are specially abundant, and the early sown grain bears every sign of thrift. The favorite theory that early rains indicate a dry year can have no application this season, because the rainfall, 7.39 of an inch for October, has no precedent in Los Angeles county, and can consequently not be made the foundation of a Cassandra-like prophecy.

THE favors of advertisers make great demands on our space this morning. A number of striking improvements are in contemplation in the HERALD which, in addition to giving this journal a new and beautiful dress, will enable us to greatly increase the quantity of reading matter. Meanwhile we have been compelled to seek relief from the crowded state of our advertising columns by issuing ten and twelve page editions.

THE San Francisco Grand Jury is investigating a charge of abortion against the agitator, Dr. O'Donnell, standing candidate for Mayor of that city and for Governor of the State. A few years ago it was a very common thing for the Doctor to get into the toils of the criminal courts on indictments for this crime; but he had a knack of escaping scot free, and we suppose he has not yet lost his cunning in that respect.

PROGRESS IN SURGERY.

Remarkable Advance in the Science in Recent Years.

In the Lancet of December 20, 1884, Dr. Bennett and Mr. Godlee published an article which startled the surgical world. Dr. Bennett had diagnosticated not only the existence, but the actual locality of a tumor in the brain, of which not the least visible evidence existed on the exterior of the skull, and asked Mr. Godlee to attempt its removal. The head was opened and the brain exposed. No tumor was seen, but so certain were they of the diagnosis that Mr. Godlee boldly cut open the healthy brain and discovered a tumor the size of a walnut, and removed it. After doing well for three weeks inflammation set in, and the patient died on the twenty-sixth day. But, like the failure of the first Atlantic cable, it pointed the way to success, and now there have been twenty tumors removed from the brain, of which seventeen have been removed from the cerebrum, with thirteen recoveries, and three from the more dangerous region of the cerebellum, all of which proved fatal. Until this recent innovation, every case of tumor of the brain was absolutely hopeless. The size of the tumors successfully removed has added to the astonishment with which surgeons view the fact of their ability to remove them at all. Tumors measuring as much as three and four inches in diameter, and weighing from a quarter to over a third of a pound, have been removed, and the patients have recovered.

Another disease formerly almost invariably fatal is abscess of the brain. In the majority of cases this comes as a result of long-standing disease of the ear, which, after a while, involves the bone and finally the brain. So long ago as 1879 Mr. Macewen, of Glasgow, diagnosticated an abscess in the brain, and wished to operate on it. The parents declined the operation, and the patient died. After death Macewen operated precisely as he would have done during life, found the abscess and evacuated the pus, thus showing how he could probably have saved the child's life. Since then the cases treated in such a manner amount to scores, and more than half of them have recovered without a bad symptom.

In injuries of the skull involving the brain the large arteries are sometimes wounded, and the blood that is poured out between the skull and the brain produces such pressure as to be speedily fatal. In some cases, even without any wound, the larger arteries are ruptured by a blow or a fall, and a similar result follows the hemorrhage. Nowadays in both of these injuries any well-instructed surgeon will open the head, secure the bleeding vessel and turn out the clot, with a good chance of recovery in a large number of cases. Even gun-shot wounds of the brain are no longer necessarily fatal. Among a large number of other successful cases one has been recently reported in which the ball went all the way from the forehead to the back of the head, and after striking the bone, rebounded into the brain. The back of the skull was opened, the ball removed, and a rubber drainage tube of the calibre of a lead pencil passed in the track of the ball completely through the head, and the patient recovered. So little danger now attaches to opening of the skull, with antiseptic precautions similar to those already described, that the latest writer on trephining (Seydel) estimates that trephining per se is fatal only in 1 6 per cent. of the cases. Mr. Horsley has recently published a most remarkable paper, including ten operations on the brain in which, without anything on the exterior to indicate its situation, the site of the disease was correctly located in all, and nine of them recovered after operation.

Almost equally astonishing are the results of brain surgery in certain cases of epilepsy; for the surgical treatment of the cases justifying such interference, has been attended with the most brilliant results. In these cases the spasm begins in a particular part of the body, for example, the hand or the thumb, or it is limited to one arm, or to one side of the body. Some of them have been operated upon without any benefit, but a large number of other cases have been operated on and either benefited, or, in not a few cases, have been completely restored to health. That the words "brilliant results" are not inappropriate will certainly be granted when we look at Mr. Horsley's table of cases. One patient had 2 870 epileptic convulsions in thirteen days, and completely recovered, not only from the operation, but also from his terrible malady, after the removal of a diseased portion of the brain, the results of an old depressed fracture of the skull. Besides this, a few cases of headache so inveterate as to make ordinary occupations impossible, and life itself a burden, have been cured by trephining the skull. Even insanity itself has been cured by such an operation in cases in which it has followed injuries to the head. What the ultimate result of these recently inaugurated operations will be it is impossible to tell as yet, but thus far they have been so beneficial and so wonderful as to arouse not only our greatest astonishment, but also our most sanguine hopes.—[Dr. W. W. Keen in Harper.

How to Get Rich.

GENERAL TOPICS.

High License Endorsed by the Catholic Hosts.

INTERNAL REVENUE STATISTICS

Mrs. Parnell not so Poverty-Stricken as Reported—Baseball and Rain Reports.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

BALTIMORE, November 17.—An immense mass meeting under Catholic auspices was held in the Academy of Music tonight for the purpose of advancing the high license movement. The meeting was presided over by Cardinal Gibbons, and upon the stage were Archbishops Ireland, of St. Paul; Elder, of Cincinnati; Bishop Virtue, of England; Monsignor McCalgan, and a large number of priests. In opening the meeting Cardinal Gibbons said:

"I appear before you tonight not only as a churchman but as a fellow-citizen anxious for the welfare of my native city, and I believe the cause we are here to advocate tonight will enhance our welfare. It will be the means of bettering the condition of the poorer people and laborers. The movement we are striving for is for the laboring man's benefit, and it must and shall be successful."

Speeches were made by Rev. James Nugent, of England; Rev. Dr. Cleary, of Wisconsin; Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, and Bishop Keane. The following resolutions were adopted:

The Catholic clergy and laity of Baltimore, recognizing the gigantic evils of intemperance imperiling the well-being of the State and society, and casting about for means which will diminish the evil and pave the way to complete moral restoration, believe that they see this remedy in high license. If they have been backward in uniting in the efforts of their distinguished fellow-citizens in the holy cause, it was not from ignorance of the great danger nor lack of heartfelt interest to avert it, but solely from their inability to compromise the sacred interests of truth by accepting certain positions, which were sometimes found to be concomitants of such movements under non-Catholic auspices. It is resolved that high license is the only feasible and peaceful means of exterminating the deluge of vice and crimes of which drunkenness is the fruitful source. The license should be put so high as to make it practically prohibitory as regards the multitude of low saloons, and certain restrictions should be enacted as to the time and place of sale. The number of saloons in any one radius should be limited by statute, and they should not be allowed near a church or school. License should be given only to persons of tried character.

INTERNAL REVENUE.

Increased Collections for the Last Fiscal Year.

WASHINGTON, November 17.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue Mason, in reporting the operations of the Internal Revenue service for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1889, says: The aggregate receipts for the last fiscal year were $130,894,434, or $6,567,958 more than the receipts the previous year. The only object of taxation showing a decrease during the first quarter of the present year is oleomargarine, which dropped from $148 623 in the first quarter of 1888, to $124,730 in 1889. The total cost of collection during the past fiscal year was a fraction less than 3 2 per cent. of the amount collected.

The Commissioner says owing to the great number of distilleries in operation during the last fiscal year and the increased quantity of spirits produced, resulting in an increase of the taxes collected from that source as compared with the receipts of the previous year of more than $5,000,000, the expenditures for salaries exceeded the amounts estimated by the appropriation.

The Commissioner regards the general condition of the service throughout the country very satisfactory. One thousand two hundred and fifty-three violations of the Internal Revenue law were reported during the year. Six hundred and fifty-nine persons were arrested. Property valued at $137,404 has been reported for seizure, and $94,605 was collected for assessments for unpaid taxes and penalties. The number of stills seized was 456, resulting in the arrest of 236 persons, and the death of one and the wounding of two officers. He recommended that allowances for traveling expenses be increased.

The total expenses of the service for the next fiscal year are estimated at $4,266,590.

The increase in the quantity of tobacco and snuff and the number of cigars and cigarettes the last fiscal year over those taxed during the previous fiscal year was: Manufactured tobacco, 11,585 026 pounds; snuff, 626,631; cigars, 22,658,990; cigarettes, 288,789,260. An expert account shows an increase in manufactured tobacco of 118,183 pounds; an increase in number of cigars exported of 266 709, and, an increase in the number of cigarettes exported of 65,909,950. The number of cigars imported during the year was 90,037,407; value of manufactured tobacco imported, $370,370.

The total number of special taxpayers was 830,134, of whom 59,013 are dealers in manufactured tobacco. The whole number of grain distilleries registered during the year was 1,440, of which 1,267 were operated. There were 3,126 fruit distilleries registered and 3,072 operated. The number of gallons of spirits produced from grain during the year was 87,887,456 gallons, an increase of 19 499,296 gallons over the product of the previous year, and 4,161,150 gallons more than the average product of the last ten years. The quantity of rum distilled from molasses during the year was 1,471,054 gallons, a decrease of 420,192 gallons from the product of the previous year.

The Commissioner reviews the recommendation of his predecessor in regard to the expediency of taking all fractions of gallons of distilled spirits.

The increase in the production of Bourbon whiskey is 14 497,175 gallons; rye whiskey, 2,870,078; gin, 156,978; high wines, 13,059; pure, neutral or cologne spirits, 963,441; miscellaneous, 1,135,069.

In regard to the use of alcohol in the industrial arts, the Commissioner says the special temptation to demethylation is to secure a cheap alcoholic beverage. The importance of separating methylated spirits from all stocks of such beverages is very great. It is also equally important to keep methylated spirits out of the hands of distillers and rectifiers who use stills, as it is impossible to demethylate spirits without the use of stills.

He estimates the quantity of alcohol annually used in the arts and manufactures at 2 000,000 gallons. The quantity of fruit brandy of all kinds withdrawn from distilleries during the year to be deposited in special bonded warehouses was 991,832 gallons. The quantity distilled in the United States, except what may be in the customs bonded warehouses on the 1st day of October, was 102,650,982 gallons. The average monthly production of oleomargarine during the fiscal year was 2,972,002 pounds.

BASE BALL.

The St. Louis Browns Again Victorious at Denver.

DENVER, November 17.—At least 5,000 people witnessed the ball game between the St. Louis Browns and the Bostons today, and everybody was delighted. It was work from the beginning to the finish. The Bostons did their best, but they were not equal to the wonderful playing of the Browns. A good play was wildly received. There were no favorites, and equal justice was meted out. Score by innings:

St. Louis	2	0	0	1	1	2	1	1	0	—8
Boston	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—2

Base hits—St. Louis, 2; Boston 8. Errors—St Louis, 1; Boston 4. Batteries—St. Louis, King and Boyle; Boston, Radbourn, Clarkson and Ganzel. Umpires—Abner and Daley.

NO GAME AT SACRAMENTO.

SACRAMENTO, November 17.—No game today; rain.

JUPITER PLUVIUS.

A Steady Rainfall Advancing from the North.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 17. — The second rain storm of the season commenced this morning shortly after 5 o'clock and continued at intervals throughout the day. Up to late this evening it was confined to the northern part of the Pacific Coast, the heaviest rain falling in Northern California. Lieutenant Maxwell, Signal Officer in this city, says the storm may travel as far south as Fresno tomorrow, but will hardly go as far as Los Angeles.

STOCKTON, Cal., November 17.—A slight sprinkle of rain began about at noon today. The probabilities are for a heavy rain tonight.

PETALUMA, November 17.—It commenced raining this morning at about 6 o'clock. Has fallen heavily all day.

RED BLUFF, Cal., November 17.—Rain commenced falling at 4 a. m. today. It rained hard all day. About half an inch fell. Summer-fallow grain, grass and volunteer grain looking well.

Mrs. Parnell's Poverty Denied.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., November 17.—Dr. William H. Shipps, of this city, the attending physician of the Parnells here several years, says at no time since Mrs. Parnell took her residence at Ironsides has she lacked either medicine or medical attendance. He further says that her present physical condition, considering her years, is remarkable for its vigor.

THE OLD LADY'S ECCENTRICITY.

NEW YORK, November 17.—It is stated this morning with reference to Mrs. Parnell's circumstances, that the Irish leaders never contributed to her assistance, because they had never known of the desperate condition of her affairs. An Irish Nationalist said: "That statement is a fabrication. The Irish leaders endeavored time and again to provide comfortably for Mrs. Parnell, but through her unfortunate eccentricity, she repelled every attempt, no matter how delicately made. Years ago when a fund was raised for Parnell, he offered to relieve his mother of the incumbrance upon her property, but she declined his assistance. It is unfortunate, of course, that Mrs. Parnell should be reduced to anything like destitute circumstances, but she has steadfastly refused the advice and assistance of her son and friends, and it is not on account of any inattention on his or their part that she may be pinched in circumstances now."

Billiard Tournament Announced.

CHICAGO, November 17.—The terms of the much-talked-of billiard tournament have been announced. The leading provision is that there shall be two contests, one in New York and one in Chicago, the first to be a handicap in lines and be played in New York the latter part of January; the second, a handicap in points, and played in Chicago thirty days later. In the New York tournament Schaefer, Slosson and Vignaux play 14-inch balk line, other players who may enter 8-inch. Games, 500 points each.

The Fort Worth Road Absorbed.

OMAHA, Neb., November 17.—The Bee tomorrow morning will say: It was learned here today that a meeting was held in Boston on Saturday last, at which the officials of the Union Pacific and Denver, Texas and Fort Worth, virtually agreed upon the consolidation of the latter road with the Union Pacific's branch lines in Colorado. The action must be ratified by the directors and stockholders of both roads, but there is little question that this will be done.

A Suspected Comet.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., November 17.—Dr. Lewis Smith, Director of the Warner Observatory, discovered last evening a suspected comet, which was verified by its motion this evening at 6:45 o'clock. It was, and is tonight, in the field with Alpha Pegasi; right ascension, 22 deg. 42 min. 25 sec; declination north, 11 deg. 50 min. It is moving northeast. It is pretty large, but without a nucleus or tail.

More British Options.

MILWAUKEE, November 17.—Options on six flouring mills and all the grain elevators in the city, except those owned by the St. Paul road, are reported to have been secured by an English syndicate. The agent declines to give the figures involved in the transaction.

The Week's Clearances.

BOSTON, November 17.—A table compiled from dispatches from the leading clearing-houses of the United States shows that the total gross exchanges for the week ending November 16, 1889, were $1,210,688 404, an increase of 12.9 per cent as compared with the corresponding week of last year.

Marine Intelligence.

NEW YORK, November 17.—Umbria, Liverpool; Legascogne, Havre.

The Growth of Trees.

In the parish of Winfarthing are two magnificent oak trees, one of which is known as the "Winfarthing Oak;" the other is a little inferior to it in magnitude, but appears to have been generally passed over in favor of the more celebrated tree first mentioned. These trees were inspected by Robert Marsham, F. R. S., the friend and correspondent of Gilbert White, and a great agriculturist in 1744, and he has left in his diary accurate measurements of both. The larger tree measured at that time 38 feet 7 inches in circumference, and the smaller just 30 feet. In the year 1874, when these trees were measured according to Marsham's method, the larger tree was just 40 feet in circumference and the smaller 30 feet. It will thus be seen that one tree had increased 17 inches in 130 years, whereas the other had remained in statu quo.—[London Standard.

CRIME AND CASUALTY.

Rube Burrows Probably Done For.

GIBBS IN JAIL AT PORTLAND.

A Train on the Pennsylvania Road Ditched—Sabbath Breakers at Cincinnati.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

ST. LOUIS, November 17.—A special from Birmingham, Ala., gives the details of the killing of a desperado in Marshall county, presumed to be the noted Rube Burrows. When the outlaw fell mortally wounded, he said: "You think I am Rube Burrows, but you are mistaken. My name is Smith." The dead desperado wore a shirt of mail.

TO THE GIBBET WITH GIBBS.

The Portland Murderer Likely to Atone for His Crime.

PORTLAND, Ore., November 17.—H. E. Gibbs, the colored Pullman car porter, who shot and killed a boy, James McDevitt, and very seriously wounded Special Officer Thomas McDevitt, the boy's father, October 11th, and who was arrested several days ago at Yreka, Cal., arrived here today in charge of an officer. Gibbs, in an interview, claims that at the time of the shooting he thought he was acting in self-defense. He says he did not see the boy at all. After the shooting he was about the city for a week. He then boarded a south-bound train and reached Medford, where he struck across the Siskiyou mountains, his purpose being to reach the sea coast and thus make his escape by a vessel. He suffered great hardships, and nearly starved to death. Gibbs has been indicted for murder in the first degree.

Pennsylvania Train Ditched.

PITTSBURG, November 17.—The westbound mail train on the Pennsylvania road ran into a small land slide at a wagon crossing between Brinton and Bessemer stations, tonight. The locomotive and baggage car were ditched and completely wrecked. Engineer Butler and Fireman Good were hurt, but how seriously could not be ascertained. The passengers were badly shaken up, but none severely injured.

Murdered in Bed.

ST. LOUIS, November 17.—A Republic special from Mexico, Mo., says: E. R. Collins, a prominent farmer of this county, was shot and killed this morning while asleep in bed. Mrs. Collins was asleep in the same bed. Before the killing the house was robbed. The affair is surrounded in mystery, and all sorts of rumors are afloat. There had been trouble in the family for some time, and interesting developments are expected.

Killed the Wrong Man.

KANSAS CITY, November 17.—Edward Gregg was shot and killed, this evening, by Henry Robinson, a colored waiter, at the Centropolis hotel. Robinson had quarreled with a fellow waiter named Davenport, and drew a revolver. Davenport jumped behind Gregg and the latter received the bullet.

A Chinese Girl Suicides.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 17.—A Chinese girl, 16 years of age, hanged herself with a rope at the Chinese Mission school, on Sacramento street, last night. She was found this morning hanging from the balustrade and had been dead some hours. The Superintendent knows of no reason why she should have committed suicide.

Gone to Canada.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, November 17.—Several days ago an attachment for $2,000 was placed on the stock of B. S. Barret, piano dealer. Yesterday a warrant charging Barret with forgery was issued, and officers are now searching for him. Investigation shows that Barret is about $70,000 in debt, and he is believed to have gone to Canada.

Cincinnati Sabbath-Breakers.

CINCINNATI, November 17.—Forty saloon-keepers were arrested today and tonight for violating the Sunday law by keeping side doors open. The managers and performers of Heuck's, Havlin's and Harris' theaters were also arrested for giving performances.

Drumm's Precious Nephew.

TORONTO, November 17.—Andrew C. Drumm, of Kansas City, held here on the charge of forging the name of his uncle, Major Drumm, and absconding with $58,000, yesterday disclosed where he had hidden $35,000 in gold, and the money was recovered. The prisoner was subsequently released on bail.

Fell From the Mast.

SAN PEDRO, November 17.—As the bark Carrollton was dropping anchor last night a Scandinavian sailor, name unknown, fell from the mizzen topmast to the deck and was killed instantly.

Hacked to Death With an Axe.

TORONTO, Ont., November 17.—Edward Kane and wife spent yesterday in a carousal, and last night he hacked her to death with an axe. He escaped.

Stricken Down on the Street.

NEW YORK, November 17.—A man who became suddenly ill and died at the station house last night, was identified as Dr. William Wilson, chief law clerk of the House of Commons, Ottawa, Canada. Heart disease caused his death.

Two Maidens Drowned.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., November 17.—Near Cynthia, today, Fannie Reese and Sadie Smith were drowned while crossing a swollen stream in a buggy.

Not for Angels.

My father, being a scenic artist himself, was naturally disposed to be critical, and when the painter asked his opinion of the dome he replied:

"Well, since you ask me, don't you think that your angels are a little stiff in their attitudes?"

"No sir; not for angels. When I deal with mythological subjects I never put my figures in natural attitudes; it would be inharmonious. A natural angel would be out of keeping with the rest of the work."

To which my father replied that it was quite likely that such would be the case. "But why have you made Handel and Beethoven frown at each other? They are not mytological subjects."

"No, no," said the painter. "But they are musicians, you know; and great musicians always quarrel, eh? Ha, ha!"

"Yes," said my father; "but as Handel died before Beethoven was born, I don't see how any coolness could have existed between them."—[Joe Jefferson's Reminiscences.

REPUBLIC OF BRAZIL.

Has the New Order of Things Come to Stay?

STRONG GROUNDS FOR DOUBT.

The Provinces yet to be Heard From. Dom Pedro Exiled and En Route to Europe.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

LIMA, Peru (via Galveston), November 17.—The latest advices from Rio de Janeiro dated November 16th, 9:55 p. m., are to the effect that the province of Bahia is opposed to the revolution. Viscount Oura Preto, ex-Minister of the Interior, and Señor Mayunck, a banker, have been arrested. The Emperor is looked on with suspicion. The provisional Government has abolished the monarchy. The Revolutionary Commission has addressed a message to the Emperor telling him to leave the country in twenty-four hours. The Emperor acknowledged this, and leaves by the packet Alagoas, accompanied by an ironclad. The Brazilian Government will give the Emperor a certain amount to live in Europe. The republic is a certainty, and great enthusiasm prevails.

DOM PEDRO SAILS FOR LISBON.

LONDON, November 17.—A dispatch from Rio de Janeiro says: Dom Pedro has departed from Brazil. He sailed direct for Lisbon. Before his departure he was formally notified of his deposition. At the same time he was notified that the civil list would be continued. The Province of Bahia opposes the Republic, but most of the other Provinces have signified their adherence to the new regime. Doctor Barbosa, the new Minister of Finance, announces that all contracts entered into by the Imperial Government will be maintained. The overthrow of the monarchy has temporarily paralyzed business. The former Prime Minister has been ordered to leave the country.

A PROPITIOUS YEAR FOR REVOLUTION.

LONDON, November 17.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says: The Republican council at Rio de Janeiro decided a few months ago that the anniversary of the French revolution was a most propitious time on which to proclaim a republic. The leaders of the party were so confident of success that they ordered a number of Republican flags to be made in this city. In the new flag the imperial crown is replaced by the Phrygian cap. Among the causes that led to the revolution were the tyrannical measures to which the Government resorted in order to secure the return of its supporters at the last election.

THE MOTHER COUNTRY SYMPATHETIC.

BRUSSELS, November 17.—The Independence Belge has a dispatch from Lisbon saying: The overthrow of the Brazilian monarchy is regarded as definitive. The Portuguese people sympathize with the Brazilians. Similar events are possible in Portugal.

BRAZILIAN LEGATIONS KEPT IN IGNORANCE.

LONDON, November 17.—The Brazilian legation here has received no official advices from Rio de Janeiro.

WASHINGTON, November 17.—Members of the Brazilian legation are still without information direct from their country in regard to the situation. They were in hopes of receiving news today, but none came, and their only intelligence was derived from the press and from a telegram to the United States State Department.

WHAT BLAINE KNOWS ABOUT IT.

Secretary Blaine said this evening that he had received a dispatch from Rio and that that simply confirms the press dispatches. It stated in substance that the army and navy were on the side of the insurgents, that a provisional government had been formed, and that the Emperor was a prisoner in the palace.

SLAVERY HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH IT.

PARIS, November 17.—The Brazilian Minister here expresses surprise that several staunch monarchists, whom he thought incapable of treason, are among the reported ringleaders in the Brazilian revolution. He said the Republicans ar only a small minority. The Emperor is universally beloved. General La Fonseca has prestige, and is popular with the army, and Senator Constant is not important as a politician. The Minister seems to scout the idea that slavery had anything to do with the movement. The Republicans, he said, supported the emancipation of the slaves. The revolution had been foreseen, but not expected to take place until after the death of the Emperor.

MR. BLAINE'S OPPORTUNITY.

BERLIN, November 17.—Commenting upon the chaos likely to result in Rio de Janeiro, the Cologne Gazette says: Mr. Blaine will hardly resist the temptation to bring America's influence to bear upon the destinies of the South.

A BRAZILIAN TALKS.

He Thinks the New Regime has not Come to Stay.

CHICAGO, November 17.—A Brazilian thoroughly conversant with the affairs of his country and well qualified to speak with regard to the situation in Brazil, said this morning:

"I believe that the movement has occurred and that the capital is in the hands of the insurgents, but I do not believe that the new government has come to stay. We do not seem to have sufficient information of the personnel of the newly proclaimed government, to believe in its permanence. I think it is a military movement supported by a few thousand civilians, and that when the provinces are heard from a reaction will take place. The names of those announced as at the head of affairs are all those of Republicans, and they are not men of high standing. The Ministry is mostly composed of lawyers and men of the press. I do not believe that they will have the confidence of the people. If we could but see some of the old leaders of Brazilian affairs in the movement it would be different, but there is not one who is readily recognized. A Republican popular movement in favor of a republic could not spring up in a night and without any warning. The last elections show that the Republican party were fair and open. That does not show any sentiment favoring a republic.

"The insurgents have cap ured the capital, the head of the nation, and as the navy is with them, they control all the means of communication. There is undoubtedly a censorship of the cable service. I would like to hear what each side is doing and something from the provinces. If you were an American in Rio and heard that by a sudden and able movement the garrison and some of the citizens had captured the departments, imprisoned the President and Cabinet and set up a government, you should want to know what Virginia, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and the other States were doing, before being convinced that the new government would last. I believe the movement is a military one, and not supported by more than one thousand civilians.

"It would be easy for an army and navy by surprise, when the officers of the Government were peacefully and quietly attending to their business, to capture the city of Rio, secure through the navy control of outside communication and imprison the Emperor."

"But," it was suggested, "if the people are favorable to the Emperor, how can they maintain control?"

"That," was the reply, "is just what is lacking, and I expect to hear that the provinces have rallied to the Emperor's support. Although he is imprisoned he is still Emperor, and the provinces can declare for him. I think the provinces will declare war against the capital, and the situation will resemble that in France at the time of the Paris commune.

"There are in the navy about 5,500 officers and sailors, not all of whom are in Rio, many being abroad. The army has about the same strength, and with 5,000 civilians upholding them, it would make 15,000 men, only, and I do not believe the new government has any greater strength. It is true the dispatches say some of the provinces have declared for the republic, but this all comes from Rio, and those who have seized the central Government. We have not got the other side.

"Knowing the country, I do not think the provinces have so declared. The Republican party throughout the empire is organized into small clubs, and their members would, of course, send their felicitations to the general government. There are also small garrisons of fifty or more men in the various provinces, and these have sent in their congratulations. This, I think, is the foundation for the statement in regard to the provinces. I cannot believe in the permanence of the republic until we get more information and something from the other side of the question."

"Of the new Cabinet three members are journalists; the President, Deordo Da Fonseca, and the Minister of War, Benjamin Constant, are soldiers, and the remaining three members are lawyers. Señor Quiatra Boyas is looked upon here as perhaps the leader in the revolutionary government. He is editor of La Pais, published in Rio de Janeiro, is a Republican of long standing and has earnestly labored for the creation of a republic. Benjamin Constant, Minister of War, has heretofore been a professor in a polytechnic school and member of the board of military engineers.

Largest Structure Erected by Man.

The great pyramid of Ghizeh is the largest structure of any kind ever erected by the hand of man. Its original dimensions at the base were 764 feet square, and its perpendicular height in the highest point, 488 feet. It covers over four acres of ground, and has been estimated to have cost $145,200,000. Internal evidence proves that the great pyramid was begun about the year 2170 B. C., about the time of the birth of Abraham. It is estimated that about 5,000,000 tons of hewn stones were used in its construction, and the evidence points to the fact that these stones were brought a distance of about 700 miles from quarries in Arabia.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is a peculiar medicine. It is carefully prepared from Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Mandrake, Dock, Pipsissewa, Juniper Berries, and other well-known and valuable vegetable remedies, by a peculiar combination, proportion and process, giving to Hood's Sarsaparilla curative power not possessed by other medicines. It effects remarkable cures where other preparations fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best blood purifier before the public. It eradicates every impurity, and cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Boils, Pimples, all Humors, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Indigestion, General Debility, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Complaints, overcomes that tired feeling, creates an appetite and builds up the system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Has met peculiar and unparalled success at home. Such has become its popularity in Lowell, Mass., where it is made, that whole neighborhoods are taking it at the same time. Lowell druggists sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of all other sarsaparillas or blood purifiers.

THE GREAT

SIERRA KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE.

Is a new and wonderful discovery, manufactured from the pure fresh juices of the herbs of California, in their natural state—containing all their original properties. Delightful to the taste and immediate in its effects. Positively containing no mineral in its composition. Perfectly harmless and a sure cure for all the many troubles arising from the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder; among which are Catarrh of the bladder and stomach, Dropsy, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, burning, smarting pains in the small of the back, Gravel and other disorders these organs are heir to. For Leucorrhea, Suppressed Menses, and all other female complaints. The Great Sierra Kidney and Liver Cure has no equal—being a blood purifier and enricher, without blotching. It brings the fresh color of youth to the cheeks, and clears the entire system of all impurities. You will immediately feel the beneficial effects of this wonderful medicine. Give it one trial; you will never be sorry.

An Old Saying and A True One, "Never Too Late to Mend."

Sierra Chemical Co., 2421 Mission St., San Francisco, Cal.—GENTLEMEN: I have suffered for years with disordered kidneys, severe pains in the small of my back, cloudy and scant urinations, and in fact generally out of condition. I tried two bottles of your Great Sierra Kidney and Liver Cure, and much to my surprise from the time I started to take the medicine I have steadily improved. My appetite is good, my system is in good order, and all symptoms of my troubles have left me. I can truly and conscientiously recommend this wonderful remedy to all suffering with any kidney or liver disorders. Believe me very truly yours,

OFFICIAL DRAWING

OF THE

LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY.

SINGLE NUMBER, CLASS "L"

Drawn at New Orleans, Louisiana, on Tuesday, November 12, 1889.

All GENUINE Louisiana State Lottery Tickets are dated New Orleans, and agree to pay all prizes in New Orleans, where the Company holds its Charter from the State, and where both the purchaser of a ticket and the Company are equally protected by the laws of the State and of the United States. Tickets dated and issued from other cities in the name of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, promising to pay prizes in other places than New Orleans, are not Louisiana State Lottery tickets at all, but are count rfeits and cheats, intended to deceive and defraud the unwary.

Remember that ONE DOLLAR is the price of the smallest part or fraction of a ticket issued in any drawing. Anything in our name offered at a less price, is either a counterfeit or a swindle. Remember further, when examining to see if your ticket has drawn a prize, never to accept anything but our official drawings, which are copyrighted under the Act of Congress, and cannot be reprinted correctly, under penalty of the law.

NEWS NOTES.

It is expected that the servants for the Raymond hotel will arrive from the East today.

A Special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Public Library will be held at 1:30 o'clock today.

The Chrysanthemum Fair which has been given in Pasadena during the past week has proved quite a success, and a handsome sum was realized.

The cars on the cable road were well patronized yesterday. Most of them were crowded with passengers bound for all parts of the city along the lines.

The City Council will meet at 10 o'clock this morning. Several important matters will come up for consideration, among others the license ordinance.

On Saturday afternoon the residence of Mrs. H. B. Rippey, of Pasadena, caught fire from a gasoline stove. The canvas lining of the interior was burned, but the building was saved. Damage, $150.

Coroner Meredith was summoned to San Pedro yesterday morning to hold an inquest upon the body of a sailor who fell down the hold of a vessel lying in the harbor. As he was unable to return last night, no details of the accident could be obtained, telephonic communication with the seaport having been cut off early in the evening.

About 2,000 books will be added to the library during the next month. These include philosophical, scientific, religious and art works, and also a number of histories and books of travel. The fact that the elevator now runs at night has attracted quite a number of visitors there after nightfall.

At a meeting of Good Will Lodge, No. 313, I. O. G. T., held at Temperance Temple on Saturday evening, nine new members were initiated and delegates to the Los Angeles County District Lodge, which meets in Pomona November 21st, were elected. The lodge will be represented by District Counselor E. E. Starr and the following delegates: A. P. Shewman, A. E. Rudell and Miss Lucy Adams. Alternates: Mrs. C. H. Brown, Miss Iva Cornelius and John Sisson.

G. C. Watson, a young man about 18 years of age, was out viewing the elephant at an early hour yesterday morning in company with a number of his acquaintances, and while engaged in this undertaking got into a fight with Jimmy Downs, the hack driver, opposite the Nadeau hotel on Spring street. Unfortunately for young Watson, Officer Walker happened to see him scuffling with Downs, and placed both of the combatants under arrest. On being taken to the Police Station Downs deposited $20 bail for his appearance on Monday, but young Watson was not able to produce that amount, and was locked up in the City Jail.

R. D. List, Notary Public. Legal papers carefully drawn. 18 S. Spring. Depositions taken.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

Deputy United States Marshal Buckingham brought up a prisoner, named Peter Flynn, from San Bernardino yesterday and lodged him in the County Jail upon a charge of selling liquor to Indians.

There were only seventy eight prisoners in the County Jail yesterday, this being the lowest number incarcerated at that institution for some years. Of this number thirteen are "trusties," seventeen are persons awaiting trial for various offenses, thirty-three are serving time, five are United States prisoners, nine are women, and one who occupies a cell by himself is under sentence for contempt of court.

Big Bean Crops.

Everybody in claiming the "blue ribbon" for raising the biggest crop of beans to the acre, but in the opinion of the Ventura Vidette, and unquestionably so far as heard from, Mr. J. F. Cummings, of Santa Paula, is entitled to the buttonhole ornament. Mr. Cummings raised on ten acres of land the enormous amount of 33,500 pounds of Lima beans, or 3,300 pounds to the acre. With Limas at three cents per pound Mr. Cummings will realize the handsome sum of $100.50 to the acre, or for the ten acres, $1,005. If there is anyone who can beat this, let him trot himself out, and take the blue ribbon, or forever hold his peace. If there is anyone who can come anywhere near it the Vidette would be glad to hear from him.

It is already in evidence that Mr. J. B. Alvord had four acres that went 3,300 pounds to the acre, and ten acres (including these four) that went 3,000 pounds. His entire yield from 180 acres went 2,000 pounds to the acre. Mr. M. D. L. Todd raised a little over 2,500 pounds to the acre on forty-three acres near Santa Paula. Mr. Zach Graham raised 2,250 pounds to the acre on his ranch near Hueneme, and Mr. J. S. Harkey raised on thirty-one acres in the Ojai 2,300 pounds to the acre.

California and Foreign Raisins.

A recent dispatch from Chicago states that A. B. Knapp, of Napa, Cal., says that all raisin-growers who have not signed contracts for this year's crop would make small fortunes.

"The crops of Malaga," said he, "have fallen off in half a dozen years from 1,900,000 to 700,000 boxes, and shipments to the United States have greatly declined. Spain is no longer a competitor, and the recent storms in California have cut down the product by one-half. This shock struck the market after most of the Malaga crop had been disposed of, thus leaving a large deficiency hard to overcome. Prices will boom, and owners who have saved but a fractional part of their crop will realize as much as if they had the entire crop to sell. Our State now stands at the head of the line in producing raisins. California has not only conquered the American market, but is stretching out for the markets of the world."

Undelivered Telegrams.

At the Western Union telegraph office, corner of Main and Court streets, November 17, 1889: Herminia, Leonard Georges, Narcissa M. Bourget, S. W. Garretson.

JOHN H. CURLEY.

Jno. H. Curley, the well known merchant tailor, of 846 Market St., S. F., writes to the Edwin W. Joy Co., that for years he was afflicted with dyspepsia which nothing relieved till he commenced taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. He continues, "I am still taking it. Its mild laxative effects are exceedingly grateful to the system. It is a pleasant surprise that awaits those who do not know what our vegetable juices do for debility, sluggish liver and impaired digestive organs.

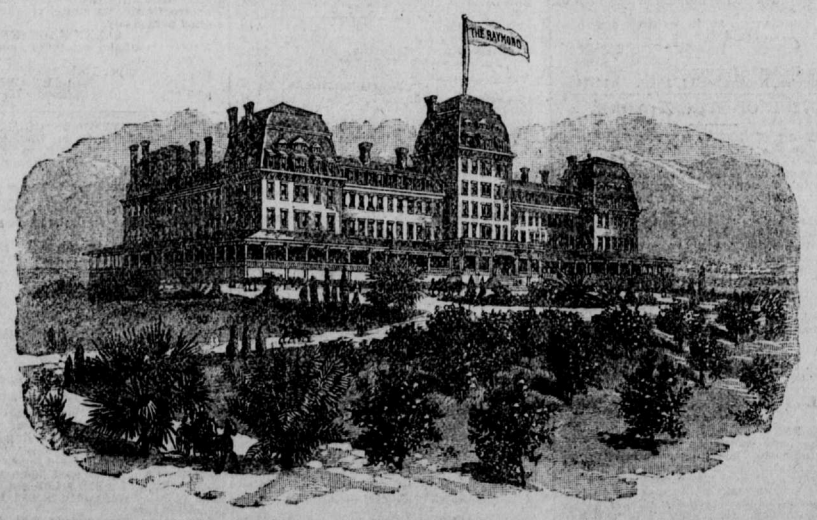
E. ADAM'S,

UNDER THE NADEAU HOUSE.



THE RAYMOND, EAST PASADENA,

Among the Orange Groves of the beautiful San Gabriel Valley, eight miles from Los Angeles,

WILL OPEN FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22d.

Under the management of Mr. C. H. Merrill (of the Crawford House, White Mountains, N. H.), who has been the manager of The Raymond for the past three seasons. A great many improvements have been made, and the hotel is now complete in every way. A new feature will be a Flower Bazaar, at which the guests can obtain an abundance of the choicest flowers. The railroad facilities between Los Angeles and The Raymond will soon be greatly increased with the addition of two new lines; thus bringing The Raymond within easy reach, so that persons doing business in Los Angeles can readily reside at the hotel.

Full particulars regarding terms of board, etc., can be obtained of C. H. Merrill, Manager of The Raymond, East Pasadena, California.

DR. M. HILTON WILLIAMS

Specialist in diseases of the

HEAD, THROAT AND CHEST,

—ALSO ALL—

Chronic Diseases of the Blood, Etc.

OFFICE—37 SOUTH FORT ST., Between First and Second streets, Los Angeles, Cal.

OVER 100,000 CASES TREATED DURING the past 22 years. All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by the most improved MEDICATED INHALATIONS and the OXYGEN TREATMENT, which has such a wonderful reputation in the East.

OXYGEN antagonizes and thoroughly removes every poison of the system from the Blood, no matter from what cause it exists or how long it has continued, and is efficacious in the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Nervous Prostration, Insomnia and Dyspepsia, etc., together with any poisoned condition of the blood.

In all cases of Catarrh and other diseases of the Respiratory Organs, where the system suffers from the deleterious effects of scrofula or other vitiated condition of the blood local treatment is invariably conjoined with constitutional remedies.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless, unless the disease has advanced to the chest and both lungs are seriously involved. The inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in cementing and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best of references from those already cured.

Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally can write for list of questions and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address
